

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1847, by

SIMEON IDE,

In the Clerk's Office of the District Court for the District of New Hampshire.

NOTE.—We call attention to the following extract from a circular, issued and extensively published a month or two ago, for the purpose of saying, that the returns made by Newspaper and Periodical Publishers have been so incomplete, that it is thought best to defer publishing them in this work, for the present. We shall go on, however, and perfect the list as fast as practicable, and hope, at no distant day, to have the pleasure of appending it hereto, in subsequent issues, together with other useful and interesting matter for publishers:—

"The undersigned would beg leave to propose to Publishers of Newspapers and Periodicals, that if they will transmit to him by mail, on receipt of this circular, a copy of their respective publications, he will insert the name thereof, the name of the Editor and Proprietor, the price, time, frequency, and place of publication, so far as may be given in their sheet, in a conspicuous part of the work* above named. If this call be generally and promptly responded to by gentlemen of the type, it will be seen at a glance, that a mass of information may be embodied in this work of great value and importance to printers and publishers, inasmuch as it is contemplated that "the American Bookseller's complete Reference Trade List" will soon be placed permanently in the hands of every Publisher, Bookseller, Librarian, and professional and literary gentlemen who are habitual customers of "the Trade," throughout the land. It is intended to issue a Supplementary Volume, at least once a year, to embrace all additions to the list of publications of every sort, so far as they may be reported to me; and it is particularly and earnestly requested, that every publisher will forward to the subscriber, by the first of January, in each succeeding year, till notice to the contrary be given, a correct list and a particular description of every Book, Newspaper or Periodical issued by him during the year, ending on said first day of January. By "particular description," I mean such an outline of the plan and object of the work, as is generally found in the title-page of a book, by which the character of its contents, the style of binding, size and price of the work, can be determined, with tolerable precision, without actual inspection. As it would be attended with unwarrantable expense to procure the above information by the personal application of Agents for that purpose, it remains for gentlemen of the newspaper, book and periodical press to decide, by a prompt and unanimous response to this call, whether the work in question shall be full and complete. If the plan above suggested should be cordially seconded by every gentleman of the press to whom this appeal will be made, this Book will contain an almost perfect list, alphabetically arranged, of all books, periodicals and newspapers, as well as of their editors and publishers, throughout this country, and will be worthy of a place upon the table of every citizen, of whatever calling or profession, who wishes occasionally to replenish his library, or is desirous of keeping himself informed as to the progress of literature in this widely extended country."

PUBLISHER'S ADVERTISEMENT.

THIS work having been undertaken for the especial convenience and benefit of BOOKSELLERS and PUBLISHERS, throughout the United States, the undersigned would now most respectfully, but earnestly bespeak their hearty concurrence and support. He would beg leave to suggest two or three ways in which they can yield such support, and at the same time, it is believed, advance their own interests more effectually than by any similar plan yet devised. At any rate, he is anxious that the experiment may be fairly made.

The first and most important object, both for the proprietors and patrons of this work, as a means of their mutual benefit, is its wide circulation. It were unnecessary, perhaps, to say, that it is for the interest of both parties that it be placed permanently in the hands of every Bookseller, Librarian, or private gentleman, who is an habitual customer of Booksellers and Publishers. To all these the information it contains cannot but be highly valuable.

The undersigned would beg leave to suggest, in the second place, that the utility and permanency of this work will mainly depend on the promptitude and fidelity with which Publishers hereafter make their returns. In many of the Trade-Lists, furnished for this volume, it will be seen that the names, alone, of important books have been given. This is a defect that, as a general thing, can be remedied by the respective publishers, only. It will be seen at a glance, that a principal object of this work, is to give such a description of each book, published in the United States, as will enable the inquirer, whether a wholesale or retail dealer, or a purchaser of a single copy, to ascertain by it, with considerable precision, the actual contents or character of the work he is in search of, its size, style of binding and price. Now, it is my earnest desire to be furnished hereafter with such lists. I would cite the lists of the Messrs. HARPER,

WILEY & PUTNAM and D. APPLETON & Co. as specimens of the manner of making up Trade-Lists for our future use. We want concise, but FULL descriptions, so that the particular edition of the work can be identified, and its general character ascertained, without actual inspection. It will be apparent to all, that unless the publishers themselves will take pains promptly to forward us their several lists containing this information, it cannot be obtained (at an expense which the profits of this work will warrant) in any other way. Publishers will, therefore, decide for themselves, as to the fullness of description they will please to have given their respective publications in future editions of this work—it being understood that it does not come within our plan to embrace merely commendatory matter

The undersigned would also respectfully request Publishers to see that the manuscript copy furnished us is plainly written, especially the names of books. In many instances we have been compelled, in Yankee phrase, to guess out the copy furnished; and, in sending us new lists, or additions to their old ones, for our Supplement, Publishers will please point out any errors they may discover in this edition. It is in contemplation to issue the Supplement early in February, if sufficient returns be made on or before the first of January next.

I would embrace this opportunity to tender my best acknowledgments for the kind response of gentlemen of the Trade, to our calls upon them for the information contained in the following sheets; and can only assure them, in return, that no effort on our part shall be wanting to render future editions of the work, with their continued assistance, more deserving of their approbation.

SIMEON IDE, Agent.

BOOKS.

Freemason's Monitor, containing a delineation of the fundamental principles of Freemasonry, operative and speculative, as well in a religious as a moral view, with explanations and plates, by Z. A. Davis, 1 50

Operative and speculative Freemasonry are here strikingly illustrated. The author's harmony and arrangement, with the sterling good sense and solid judgment evinced throughout, confers upon it its distinctive excellence. The style of the author is distinguished for dignity and masculine energy, excelling contemporaneous treatise in its adaptation to the wants of the craft—to whom we earnestly recommend it as an invaluable companion. Printed on the finest paper, elegantly ornamented, and bound in such a superior manner, and being illustrated with numerous engravings, it forms so finished a volume that it must command a popularity and sale greater than any one of the kind which has ever preceded it.

Fowle's Outline Map of Massachusetts, which is larger even than the great State map lately published by the Legislature, net,	5 00
The Common School Journal; this valuable periodical is edited by Horace Mann, the Secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Education, and contains not only the school laws of the State and the official reports of the Secretary and of the Board, but a larger collection of permanent and important information upon education at home and abroad than can be found in any other publication. The year 1846 will complete the eighth volume, and subscriptions for this, or applications for complete sets, will be received by W. B. F., the publisher. Per ann., in advance,	1 00
Pelton's Outline Maps; W. B. Fowle is agent for the sale of these valuable aids to the teacher. The maps are six in number, and each is about two yards square, pasted on cloth and mounted in the best style on rollers. The maps are, 1, the World; 2, the United States; 3, North America; 4, Europe; 5, Asia; 6, South America and Africa. For the set,	25 00

Mitchell's Outline Maps; this series consists of 23 maps, with a Key, at $15.00 the set, neatly pasted on cloth. Wm. B. Fowle, Agent for Massachusetts.

Cornell's Terrestrial Globe; this cheap little globe is one of the happiest inventions of our day. Instead of revolving on poles it turns on a wire, which is inclined 23 1-2 degrees from a vertical, and is fixed on a circular stand. A circle corresponding to the plane of the ecliptic surrounds the globe and enables it to perform all the problems demonstrated by the most expensive globes. A Key accompanies it. Wm. B. Fowle, Agent for New England.

New and improved Mathematical Works.

- Talbot's Little Arithmetic, designed for beginners, or the First Step of Mathematical Instruction, 12 1/2
 Talbot's Western Practical Arithmetic, newly revised and improved; to which is added the Prussian Cancelling System, and other important abbreviations,
 Key to Talbot's Western Practical Arithmetic, containing a solution of the questions, accompanied with explanations and illustrations, for the benefit of young teachers and private students; revised, improved and extended, 29
 A New Philosophical and Practical Arithmetic, by Horatio N. Robinson, A. M., in which in addition to the common modes, the Science of Numbers, the Prussian Cancelling System, and other practical abbreviations hold a prominent place; designed for schools, academic institutions, and private students. (In press.) 25
 Mitchell's Algebra, an elementary treatise, designed to facilitate the comprehension, demonstration, and application of the leading principles of Algebra. By O. M. Mitchell, A. M., professor of mathematics and natural philosophy, Cincinnati College, 1 50
 Mitchell's Geometry, an elementary treatise on Geometry, in which the reasoning of each proposition is preceded by an analysis, and the propositions arranged into groups, according to their immediate dependence upon each other. By O. M. Mitchell, A. M., professor of mathematics and natural philosophy, Cincinnati College. (In press.)
 A Universal Key to the Science of Algebra, in which the numerical abbreviations contained in the Prussian Cancelling System are very skillfully applied, reducing the labor of Algebraic solutions to one half; and in some cases to one fourth the usual methods. This work is a key to principles—not a key to any particular book—but it contains short and easy solutions to all the essential problems in the various books in use, and to very important problems several solutions, to which are added examples for practice, 6 00

PUBLISHED BY CLAREMONT MANUFACTURING CO.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1848, by

SIMEON IDE,

In the Clerk's Office of the District Court for the District of New Hampshire.

PUBLISHERS' ADVERTISEMENT.

By courtesy of publishers, we have been furnished with above fifty new Trade-Lists, not in the Book to which this is a Supplement: and, also, with returns from over one hundred publishers, of additions to their former lists—and, from about the same number, no returns have been received—but it is probable a considerable portion of these latter have discontinued the business, or made new arrangements, by which their old lists have been transferred to new firms. In all cases where no alterations are made, it may be taken for granted that we have received no returns. We have done our best to have the returns complete; and have reason to believe that they are very nearly so, from all those publishers who have made any considerable alterations of their lists since the 1st of March, '47. It will be seen that we have added the names of between five and six thousand books, of all classes and descriptions, to our Alphabetical Catalogue, or list of American publications; some of which, it is true, are on the first Catalogue, under the same or different names or designations.

In making up the Catalogue for the Supplement, we have sought to abridge the list as far as might be compatible with utility. For instance, we have omitted, entirely, from the Alphabetical Catalogue, the names of many thousands of Sunday School Books; such as the books of the Massachusetts Sabbath School Society, page 246, the American Sunday School Union, page 251, and others, for the reason that books of that class would naturally be sought for in the mass; and that, to have inserted each one under its appropriate letter would have swelled the catalogue unreasonably, with no beneficial result. For this reason, also, we have, as a general rule, omitted from the list a repetition of the names of many School-books, where there are several in a series, all by the same publisher—as, “Adams’ Series of School-books,” page 278; “Cobb’s Series,” page 300, and various others. Instead of these repetitions, we have very much enlarged, and we think, improved our Classified List of publishers, (see page 221), by reference to which the names of publishers of particular kinds of books can be found at a glance. We have endeavored, also, to enhance the value of our book, by attempting the beginning of an alphabetical list of Publishers and Booksellers throughout the United States—but as the idea of doing this did not occur to us until the last form but one was put to press, we have not had time to procure, especially from the South, the necessary materials for a complete list. This we shall do in time for our future issues.

If life and health are spared, it is our intention to persevere in this matter, till we get as perfect a work as the nature of the case will admit of. In the mean time, we look confidently to our friends and patrons, the gentlemen of the trade, for their continued countenance and support, as well as for their kind forbearance, in view of the many imperfections and difficulties attending this first effort of the kind in America. We cannot close this notice, without an acknowledgment of the lasting obligations many publishers and booksellers have laid us under, by their prompt response to our several calls, in furnishing the indispensable requisites for our book, and in adding such hints and suggestions, with regard to improvements and corrections, as appear to have been dictated by a sincere desire to assist us in rendering this novel and difficult undertaking, in no small degree, interesting and useful to all parties concerned.

Claremont, N. H., August, 1848.

THE AMERICAN BOOKSELLERS' REFERENCE TRADE LIST

Is now in the hands of nearly all the Publishers and Booksellers (professionally such) in the United States. It might seem superfluous, therefore, to occupy any part of these pages, as is customary on re-issues of new works, with commendatory notices. And were it not that we have a page here that would otherwise remain a blank, we should not probably have collected together, from our by-gone correspondence, a few among such notices, that came most readily to hand. Those from Booksellers, with one exception, were written in connection with other business.

From E. D. Truman, Cincinnati, Ohio.

"We find the collection of Trade Lists, and Classified Catalogue, lately published by you, very valuable, and fully as accurate as might have been expected from a first edition."

"We feel pleased that you have got up a Trade List Book. It is a great convenience to booksellers, and is just what was wanted; you should be fully compensated for your trouble.

Resp'y your ob't servants,
SANBORN & CARTER."

Portland, March 22, 1848.

Messrs. H. & E. PHINNEY, Cooperstown, N. Y., in writing us about the book, say, "There are many errors and discrepancies in the work; still we think it very useful."

Brunswick, Me., Oct. 26, 1847.

"Mr. Ide: Dear Sir,—I have purchased a copy of your Reference Trade List, which I find exceedingly convenient.—Bowdoin College will, by and by, when you have perfected your plan, take two or three copies, I think.

Yours, with respect,
JAS. GRIFFIN."

Bath, Nov. 23, 1847.

We have but recently had a copy of the Booksellers' Trade List, and we are very much gratified to possess such a useful article."

From the New-York Tribune.

THE AMERICAN BOOKSELLERS' COMPLETE REFERENCE TRADE LIST AND ALPHABETICAL CATALOGUE OF BOOKS Published in this Country, with the Publishers' and Authors' Names and Prices, Arranged in Classes for quick and convenient Reference. Compiled by A. V. BLAKE. To which is added an Article on the Law of Copy-Right.

* This is the title of a royal quarto volume of some 240 pages, neatly printed on good paper, sized for writing upon, substantially bound, and, to all appearance, every way well got up.—From a cursory examination we should incline to the opinion that it will be of incalculable value to booksellers, as well as to literary gentlemen, librarians and others. The Alphabetical Catalogue, which is the crown and key to the whole work, occupies about sixty very compact pages, and embraces, perhaps, a larger list of American Books than was ever before published in one volume. But this is not all. By a judicious arrangement, the inquirer can not only find, at a glance, the book he is in search of, but, by reference to the Publisher's Trade List, in a preceding page, he can also, if the publisher does his duty to himself, ascertain, with tolerable precision, the character of the work, its contents, size, style of binding and price, and from this description be able to decide whether or not he will order the book, and where it may be had. We should much exceed the limits prescribed for notices of this sort were we to point out the many excellent features of the work before us, among which is the appropriate and interesting article (to authors and publishers) on the "Law of Copy-Right." It must suffice to recommend, as we do most cordially, the book and its enterprising publisher to the favorable attention of booksellers and book-buyers, as a mutual help to each.

"W." of the Portland Advertiser, April 16, 1847, among other things, says of this work:—"This is one of the most valuable bibliographical works published in this country, and is not only in the highest degree useful to the trade, for whose benefit it was more especially prepared, but should find a place in the library of every public institution, and on the shelves of every well stored private library.

This is the first book of the kind which has been published among us, and of course falls short of perfection. It only contains the names of books got out by members of the trade, and is therefore deficient in many which have come to light through other sources than regular book publishers. In the cursory examination we have given to the work, we perceive that it omits the names of a number of works of authority, and standard value.

What is wanted is a work which shall embrace the name and title page of every book ever published in this country, with the date and place of publication, and the author's and publisher's name. What is now done, is the first step in the accomplishment of so important an object; we trust the next step will be taken in the second edition of this work. In the mean time we are thankful for what has been done, and are indebted for it to Alexander V. Blake the compiler, and Simeon Ide the publisher, of the Claremont press in New Hampshire.

A NEW THING. A book, the like of which has not before appeared in our country, we believe, has been prepared by Alexander V. Blake, and published by Simeon Ide. It is a catalogue of all the books published in the U. States, with the publisher's and author's name and prices, arranged in classes for quick and convenient reference. It is certainly an acquisition to the previously existing facilities for obtaining information on Bibliology, and must command the attention of Booksellers and Librarians, and individual gentlemen, who may have private libraries to furnish. It is a large sized quarto, of 232 pages. It contains also the law of copy-right, with notes appended, containing decisions pronounced in the U. States courts, and various information concerning the tenure of this kind of property.

Ch. Mirror, Portland.

"It is a work of decided value to those engaged in that department of business."

Semi-weekly Courier and N. Y. Enquirer, of July 7, 1847.

G. S. PETERS, (PER LUTZ & SCHEFFER.) HARRISBURG, PA.

Kunst's English and German Dictionary, new and revised edition, 2 vols. in one, full bd. containing upwards of 800 pp. 12mo. This work is in two parts, bound in one volume, of convenient size, printed with nonpareil type on good paper, and well bound in leather. It contains all the words in general use, and is so arranged as to make it an easy guide to those who desire to become thoroughly acquainted with either language. It is particularly valuable to Germans in this country, as it will assist them very much in gaining a knowledge of the English Language, and no one should be without it. The English student desirous of becoming acquainted with the German, will find it an excellent assistant, as all the words are divided into syllables, and the plurals of all nouns annexed, with a complete Key to the pronunciation, &c. being the only work of the kind ever published with this arrangement.	2 00

- Perkins' Elementary Arithmetic, is remarkable for the clearness and conciseness of its rules and illustrations, 37½
- Perkins' Higher Arithmetic, develops the higher principles of Arithmetic more fully than any other book, 75
- Perkins' Elements of Algebra, prepared expressly for common schools, 75
- Perkins' Treatise on Algebra, embracing, besides the elementary principles, the Theorem of Sturm, and the higher parts usually taught in colleges. A revised, enlarged and improved edition, recently published, 75
- Perkins' Elements of Geometry, with practical applications, lately published, and distinguished from all former text books on Geometry, by applying the principles to practice as fast as they are explained, 1 00
- Winchester's Writing Books, embracing the primary, or first book, and Nos. 1, 2, and 3. These books contain instructions for both teachers and scholars, besides guides for the scholar in every alternate column. The 4th book is for ladies' use, and takes the place of the 3d to complete the course. Primary 8 cts.; Nos. 1, 2, 3, and 4, each 12½
- Winchester's Black Board Chart accompanies the above, it contains the guides for forming the letters, and is used by the teacher to illustrate the principles of writing to the whole class at once, 1 00
- Winchester's System of Book-Keeping, by single entry, embracing the Journal and Leger, each of which contain instructions to the scholar for opening and keeping accounts, besides a sufficient quantity of fine writing paper, properly ruled and prepared for carrying out the instructions; also the Teachers' Guide, containing instructions as above, and in which the blanks are filled up; for the use of the teacher only. Teachers' Guide, 67 cts.; Journal, 34 cts.; Leger, 34
- Winchester's System of Book-Keeping, by double entry, on the same plan.
- Child's First Drawing Book, by Josiah Holbrook, designed to train the hand, the eye, the mind and the heart of all the small children, both at home and at school, 10
- John's First Book, or the Child's First Reader, by J. R. Webb, commences with words instead of letters; a word can as easily be learned as a letter; this has been shown by experience. The former has meaning, conveys an idea to the mind, and teaches the child to think; the latter has no meaning, conveys no idea, and teaches nothing,—when two or more words are learned, their combination suggests new ideas, and so on. In this book the learner is taught the powers of letters in spelling, rather than their names. 12½

- The London Quarterly Review,
- The Edinburgh Review, (quarterly,)
- The Westminster Review, (quarterly,)
- The North British Review, (quarterly,)
- Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine, (monthly.)

The above Periodicals are reprinted in New York, immediately on their arrival by the British Steamers, in a beautiful clear type, on fine white paper, and are faithful copies of the originals—Blackwood's Magazine being an exact fac-simile of the Edinburgh edition. The prices of the re-prints are less than one-third of those of the foreign copies, and while they are equally well got up, they afford all that advantage to the American over the English reader. Terms—for any one of the four Reviews, $3.00 per annum; for any two, $5.00; for any three, $7.00; for all four of the Reviews, $8.00; for Blackwood's Magazine, $3.00; for Blackwood's Magazine and the four Reviews, $10.00.

ROBERT P. SMITH,

15 MINOR STREET, PHILADELPHIA.

Illustrations of Medical Botany, consisting of col'd figures of the plants, affording all the important articles of the Materia Medica, and descriptive text. By Joseph Carson, M. D., Professor of Materia Medica, &c. This work consists of one hundred large quarto plates, very handsomely colored, with accompanying descriptions, and published in five numbers of twenty plates each; price, five dollars a number, (Nos. 1, 2, and 3, are published,) to form, when complete, two large quarto vols., at twenty-five dollars, handsomely bound—or the set of plates neatly put up in glass covered frames, for lectures, &c., 40 00

North American Sylva, or a Description of the Forest Trees of the United States, Canada and Nova Scotia, considered particularly with respect to their use in the Arts, and their introduction into Commerce; with a description of the most useful of the European Forest Trees, illustrated by 125 finely colored engravings by Redouté, &c. Translated from the French of F. Andrew Michaux, Member of the American Philosophical Society, &c. &c., to which will be added three additional volumes containing all the Forest Trees discovered in the Rocky Mountains, the Territory of Oregon, down to the shores of the Pacific, and into the confines of California as well as the various parts of the United States, illustrated by 123 finely colored plates. By Thomas Nuttall, F. L. S., Member of the American Philosophical Society, and of the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia, &c. &c. &c. The whole to be completed in six volumes, imperial 8vo., with 278 plates. The figures in the three additional volumes will comprise one hundred and twenty-two plates, finely colored, mostly of new subjects, or such as have not been before published in the Sylva, executed with the strictest fidelity to nature, under the eye of the editor; additional remarks on the uses and economy of the Forest Trees of the United States will also be given, so as to complete, as far as possible, the requisite information on this important subject.

The price of the whole work, with the plates finely colored, will be forty-four dollars; the first and second volumes, eight dollars each; and the third, fourth, fifth and sixth, seven dollars each—payable on delivery of each volume; with the plates uncolored the price will be five dollars per volume. Those persons who possess the former edition of Michaux's work, can procure the three additional volumes by Mr. Nuttall, separately, and thus complete their copies. The edition is printed on paper so large as to match either the 4to. or 8vo. copies of Michaux's work. Price—with colored plates, seven dollars each volume; with plates uncolored, five dollars each. (In preparation.)

MAPS IN PREPARATION.

Map of Delaware County, Pa., by Dr. Joshua W. Ash, of Philadelphia, formerly of Delaware County, handsomely engraved on a scale of 125 perches to the inch, (a fraction over 2 1-2 inches to the mile,) to embrace an accurate delineation of all the roads and streams, with their names, the location of all mills, places of worship, school houses, post offices, and all other places of public interest, together with Township lines, the Farm limits, and generally the location of dwelling houses; to be furnished to the subscribers, mounted on rollers, and col'd. The size of the Map will be 4 feet 8 inches East and West, by 3 feet 6 inches North and South; and for accuracy, the author confidently believes, will compare advantageously with any map of equal extent ever published, in which opinion he is sustained by some of the most intelligent and well informed men of the County who have had an opportunity of examining it.

This is a very curious and it is believed entirely unique map. In addition to other minute details, it is to contain the boundaries and owner's name of every farm in the County.

Map of Jerusalem, by N. Catherwood, author of the Panorama of Jerusalem, with additions and corrections from later travelers, and from personal observation, by John P. Durbin, D. D., author of Observations in the East, &c. Handsomely illustrated, with a bird's eye view of the present appearance of Jerusalem and other scenes, colored and mounted, with an illustrated book of explanations. (Very nearly ready.)

Map of the City of Philadelphia, and Districts Adjoining, a new and correct map, by the author of "Sidney's Map of Ten Miles Round."

This map will be handsomely engraved, colored and mounted, (and framed at a moderate price, where desired;) it will be at least five feet square, and will be issued as early in 1848 as is compatible with correctness.

THE LAW OF COPY-RIGHT.

LAWS OF THE UNITED STATES,

NOW IN FORCE,

RELATING TO COPY-RIGHTS;

WITH

NOTES AND REFERENCES

TO

ADJUDGED CASES.

BY PETER T. WASHBURN,
Counsellor at Law.

Claremont, N. H.

SIMEON IDE,

In the Clerk's Office of the District Court for the District of New Hampshire.

THE LAW OF COPY-RIGHT.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, ART. I., SEC. 8.

“Congress shall have power,”  “To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing, for limited times, to authors and inventors, the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries.”

An act to extend the jurisdiction of the Circuit Courts of the United States to cases arising under the law relating to patents.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the Circuit Courts of the United States shall have original cognizance, as well in equity as at law, of all actions, suits, controversies and cases, arising under any law of the United States, granting or confirming to authors or inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings, inventions and discoveries: and upon any bill in equity, filed by any party aggrieved in any such cases, shall have authority to grant injunctions, according to the course and principles of courts of equity, to prevent the violation of the rights of any authors, or inventors, secured to them by any laws of the United States, on such terms and conditions as the said courts may deem fit and reasonable: Provided, however, That from all judgments and decrees of any Circuit Courts, rendered in the premises, a writ of error, or appeal, as the case may require, shall lie to the Supreme Court of the United States, in the same manner, and under the same circumstances, as is now provided by law in other judgments and decrees of such circuit courts.

APPROVED, February 15, 1819.

An act to amend the several acts respecting copy-rights.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That from and after the passing of this act, any person or persons, being a citizen or citizens of the United States, or resident therein, who shall be the author or authors of any book or books, map, chart, or musical composition, which may be now made or composed, and not printed and published, or shall hereafter be made or composed, or who shall invent, design, etch, engrave, work, or cause to be engraved, etched, or worked from his own design, any print or engraving, and the executors, administrators, or legal assigns of such person, or persons, shall have the sole right and liberty of printing, reprinting, publishing and vending such book or books, map, chart, musical composition, print, cut, or engraving, in whole or in part, for the term of twenty-eight years from the time of recording the title thereof, in the manner hereinafter directed.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That if, at the expiration of the aforesaid term of years, such author, inventor, designer, engraver, or any of them, where the work had been originally composed and made by more than one person, be still living, and a citizen or citizens of the United States, or resident therein, or being dead, shall have left a widow, or child, or children, either or all then living, the same exclusive right shall be continued to such author, designer, or engraver, or, if dead, then to such widow and child, or children, for the further term of fourteen years: Provided, That the title of the work so secured shall be a second time recorded, and all such other regulations, as are herein required in regard to original copy-rights, be complied with in respect to such renewed copy-right, and that within six months before the expiration of the first term.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That in all cases of renewal of copy-right under this act, such author or proprietor shall, within two months from the date of said renewal, cause a copy of the record thereof to be published in one or more of the newspapers printed in the United States, for the space of four weeks.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That no person shall be entitled to the benefit of this act, unless he shall, before publication, deposit a printed copy of the title of such book, or books, map, chart, musical composition, print, cut, or engraving, in the clerk's office of the District Court of the district wherein the author or proprietor shall reside, and the clerk of such court is hereby directed and required to record the same thereof forthwith, in a book to be kept for that purpose, in the words following: (giving a copy of the title, under the seal of the court, to the said author or proprietor, whenever he shall require the same :) "District of — to wit: Be it remembered, that on the — day of —, Anno Domini —, A. B., of the said district, hath deposited in this office the title of a book, (map, chart, or otherwise, as the case may be,) the title of which is in the words following, to wit: (here insert the title:) the right whereof he claims as author, (or proprietor, as the case may be,) in conformity with an act of Congress, entitled 'An act to amend the several acts respecting copy-rights.' C. D., clerk of the district." For which record the clerk shall be entitled to receive, from the person claiming such right as aforesaid, fifty cents; and the like sum for every copy, under seal, actually given to such person or his assigns. And the author or proprietor of any such book, map, chart, musical composition, print, cut, or engraving, shall, within three months from the publication of said book, map, chart, musical composition, print, cut, or engraving, deliver or cause to be delivered a copy of the same to the clerk of said district. And it shall be the duty of the clerk of each District Court, at least once in every year, to transmit a certified list of all such records of copy-right, including the titles so recorded, and the dates of record, and also all the several copies of books or other works deposited in his office, according to this act, to the Secretary of State, to be preserved in his office.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That no person shall be entitled to the benefit of this act, unless he shall give information of copy-right being secured, by causing to be inserted, in the several copies of each and every edition published during the term secured on the title page, or the page immediately following, if it be a book, or, if a map, chart, musical composition, print, cut, or engraving, by causing to be impressed on the face thereof, or if a volume of maps, charts, music, or engravings, upon the title or frontispiece thereof, the following words, viz: "Entered according to act of Congress, in the year —, by A. B., in the clerk's office of the District Court of —," (as the case may be.)

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That if any other person or persons, from and after the recording the title of any book or books, according to this act, shall, within the term or terms herein limited, print, publish, or import, or cause to be printed, published, or imported, any copy of such book, or books, without the consent of the person legally entitled to the copy-right thereof, first had and obtained in writing, signed in presence of two or more credible witnesses, or shall, knowing the same to be so printed or imported, publish, sell, or expose to sale, or cause to be published, sold, or exposed to sale, any copy of such book without such consent in writing; then such offender shall forfeit every copy of such book to the person legally, at the time, entitled to the copy-right thereof; and shall also forfeit and pay fifty cents for every such sheet which may be found in his possession, either printed or printing, published, imported, or exposed to sale, contrary to the intent of this act, the one moiety thereof to such legal owner of the copy-right as aforesaid, and the other to the use of the United States, to be recovered by action of debt in any court having competent jurisdiction thereof.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That if any person or persons, after the recording the title of any print, cut, or engraving, map, chart, or musical composition, according to the provisions of this act, shall, within the term or terms limited by this act, engrave, etch or work, sell, or copy, or cause to be engraved, etched, worked, or sold, or copied, either on the whole, or by varying, adding to, or diminishing the main design with intent to evade the law; or shall print or import for sale, any such map, chart, musical composition, print, cut, or engraving, or any parts thereof, without the consent of the proprietor or proprietors of the copy-right thereof, first obtained in writing, signed in the presence of two credible witnesses; or, knowing the same to be so printed or imported without such consent, shall publish, sell, or expose to sale, or in any manner dispose of any such map, chart, musical composition, engraving, cut, or print, without such consent, as aforesaid; then such offender or offenders shall forfeit the plate or plates on which such map, chart, musical composition, engraving, cut, or print, shall be copied, and also all and every sheet thereof so copied or printed as aforesaid, to the proprietor or proprietors of the copy-right thereof; and shall further forfeit one dollar for every sheet of such map, chart, musical composition, print, cut, or engraving, which may be found in his or their possession, printed or published, or exposed to sale, contrary to the true intent and meaning of this act; the one moiety thereof to the proprietor or proprietors, and the other moiety to the use of the United States, to be recovered in any court having competent jurisdiction thereof.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That nothing in this act shall be construed to extend to prohibit the importation or vending, printing, or publishing, of any map, chart, book, musical composition, print or engraving, written, composed, or made, by any person not being a citizen of the United States, nor resident within the jurisdiction thereof.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That any person or persons who shall print or publish any manuscript whatever without the consent of the author or legal proprietor first obtained as aforesaid, (if such author or proprietor be a citizen of the United States, or resident therein,) shall be liable to suffer and pay to the author, or proprietor, all damages occasioned by such injury, to be recovered by a special action on the case founded upon this act, in any court having cognizance thereof; and the several courts of the United States, empowered to grant injunctions to prevent the violation of the rights of authors and inventors, are hereby empowered to grant injunctions, in like manner, according to the principles of equity, to restrain such publication of any manuscript as aforesaid.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That if any person or persons shall be sued or prosecuted, for any matter, act, or thing done under or by virtue of this act, he or they may plead the general issue and give the special matter in evidence.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That, if any person, or persons, from and after the passing of this act, shall print or publish any book, map, chart, musical composition, print, cut, or engraving, not having legally acquired the copy-right thereof, and shall insert or impress that the same hath been entered according to act of Congress, or words purporting the same, every person so offending shall forfeit and pay one hundred dollars; one moiety thereof to the person who shall sue for the same, and the other to the use of the United States, to be recovered by action of debt, in any court of record having cognizance thereof.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That, in all recoveries under this act, either for damages, forfeitures, or penalties, full costs shall be allowed thereon, any thing in any former act to the contrary notwithstanding.

SEC. 13. And be it further enacted, That no action or prosecution shall be maintained in any case of forfeiture or penalty under this act, unless the same shall have been commenced within two years after the cause of action shall have arisen.

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That the "Act for the encouragement of learning, by securing the copies of maps, charts, and books, to the authors and proprietors of such copies during the times therein mentioned," passed May thirty-first, one thousand seven hundred and ninety, and the act supplementary thereto, passed

April twenty-ninth, one thousand eight hundred and two, shall be, and the same are hereby, repealed; saving, always, such rights as may have been obtained in conformity to their provisions.

SEC. 15. And be it further enacted, That all and several the provisions of this act, intended for the protection and security of copy-rights, and providing remedies, penalties, and forfeitures, in case of violation thereof, shall be held and construed to extend to the benefit of the legal proprietor or proprietors of each and every copy-right heretofore obtained, according to law, during the term thereof, in the same manner as if such copy-right had been entered and secured according to the directions of this act.

SEC. 16. And be it further enacted, That whenever a copy-right has been heretofore obtained by an author or authors, inventor, designer, or engraver, of any book, map, chart, print, cut, or engraving, or by a proprietor of the same; if such author or authors, or either of them, such inventor, designer, or engraver, be living at the passage of this act, then such author or authors, or the survivor of them, such inventor, engraver, or designer, shall continue to have the same exclusive right to his book, chart, map, print, cut, or engraving, with the benefit of each and all the provisions of this act, for the security thereof, for such additional period of time as will, together with the time which shall have elapsed from the first entry of such copy-right, make up the term of twenty-eight years, with the same right to his widow, child, or children, to renew the copy-right, at the expiration thereof, as is above provided in relation to copy-rights originally secured under this act, and if such author, or authors, inventor, designer, or engraver, shall not be living at the passage of this act, then, his or their heirs, executors and administrators, shall be entitled to the like exclusive enjoyment of said copy-right, with the benefits of each and all the provisions of this act for the security thereof, for the period of twenty-eight years from the first entry of said copy-right, with the like privilege of renewal to the widow, child, or children, of author or authors, designer, inventor, or engraver, as is provided in relation to copy-rights originally secured under this act: Provided, That this act shall not extend to any copy-right heretofore secured, the term of which has already expired.

APPROVED, February 3, 1831.

An act supplementary to the act to amend the several acts respecting copy-rights.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That all deeds or instruments in writing for the transfer or assignment of copy-rights, being proved or acknowledged in such manner as deeds for the conveyance of land are required by law to be proved or acknowledged in the same state or district, shall and may be recorded in the office where the original copy-right is deposited and recorded; and every such deed or instrument as shall in any time hereafter be made and executed, and which shall not be proved or acknowledged and recorded as aforesaid, within sixty days after its execution, shall be judged fraudulent and void against any subsequent purchaser or mortgagee for valuable consideration without notice.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the clerk of the district court shall be entitled to such fees for performing the services herein authorized and required; as he is entitled to for performing like services under existing laws of the United States.

APPROVED, June 30, 1834.

NOTES.

Literary property.] It is settled, that, at common law, an author has a right of property in his manuscript; and the sole right of first printing and publishing it for sale, and that he may obtain redress against any one, who deprives him of his manuscript, or, having obtained a copy, endeavors to realize a profit from its publication; Miller v. Taylor, 4 Burr. 2303; Donaldson v. Becket et al., 4 Burr. 2408; and this right would seem to be referred to in the first section of the act of Congress of February 3, 1831, which gives to the assignee of an author the right to secure a copy-right, and is expressly recognized in section nine of the same act, but limited to citizens, or residents, of the United States. Whether this is a right in perpetuity, at common law, is a question by no means free from doubt. But since the enactment of statutes upon the subject, it is well settled, that the right exists only during the time limited in the statute; Donaldson v. Becket et al., 4 Burr. 2408. The right of an author in the United States, however, so far as he claims any thing more than his manuscript and the right to first publish it for sale, is based upon the Constitution and the acts of Congress; and these, instead of sanctioning a right in perpetuity in the author, create in him a right, for the time limited in the acts, dependent upon a strict performance by him of the conditions prescribed. Wheaton et al. v. Peters et al., 8 Pet. 591.

What may be the subject of copy-right.] Copy-right may be either in respect of the matter, or the arrangement; but no property can be acquired in any article copied from a prior work. Barfield v. Nicholson, 2 Sim. & Stu. 1. If the combination of the book is new, and an improvement upon former modes of using the same materials, it is sufficient; it is not necessary, that the materials themselves should be new, or never before used for the same purpose. Emerson v. Davies et al., Circ. Ct., Mass., Aug. 1845, [8 Law Rep. 270.] If a person make material alterations and additions to a work, in which he had originally no interest, he may acquire a copy-right in them, and may bring an action, if they are pirated. Cary v. Longman et al., 1 East 358. And though the proprietor of the copy-right of such amended portions may not have title to the whole book, yet, if the defendant have copied the whole, he will be restrained by injunction as to publication with the additions. Ib. S. C., 3 Esp. 73. Tonson v. Walker, 3 Swanst. 672. And it was held by TANEY, Ch. J., in

Reed v. Carusi, Circ. Ct., Md., Nov. T. 1845, in case of a musical composition, that it was a question for the jury to determine, whether the plaintiff was the author of the work, for the pirating of which the action was brought; that if the musical composition was borrowed from a former one, or was made of different parts, copied from older musical compositions, without any material change, and put together into one tune, then he would not be the author; but that the circumstances of its corresponding with older musical compositions, and belonging to the same style of music, would not constitute it a plagiarism, provided the air in question was, in its main design, and in its material and important parts, the effect of his own mind; and that the copy-right is prima facie evidence that he was the author, and the burden of proof is upon the defendant to show the contrary. It is no objection to granting an injunction, that the suppression of the pirated part of the defendant's book will render the remainder of the work valueless. The defendant must suffer the consequences of his own acts. Emerson v. Davies et al., Circ. Ct., Mass., August, 1845, [8 Law Rep. 270.] A copy-right may exist in a translation, as well as in an original work. Wyatt v. Barnard, 3 Ves. & B. 77. But a reporter of the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States cannot have a copy-right in the written opinions delivered by the Court; nor can the judges of the Court confer upon the reporter any such right. Wheaton et al. v. Peters et al., 8 Pet. 591, and in Clayton v. Stone, decided in the Circuit Court of the United States, at New-York, December, 1828, it was held, that a price current, published in a semi-weekly newspaper, was not a book, within the acts of Congress, because not a work of science, or learning, but of mere industry. 2 Kent, 379, (n.)

In Wyatt v. Barnard, 3 Ves. & B. 77, it was held, that there could be no copy-right in specifications of patents; but in Newton v. Cowie et al., 4 Bing. 234, it was held, that an engraving, made on a reduced scale from a specification in the patent office, would require skill in its execution, as well as labor, and so was the subject of copy-right; although the same specification will of course remain equally open and public, for others to engrave from. De Berenger v. Wheble, 2 Stark. 548. And in Binns v. Woodruff, 4 Wash. C. C. Rep. 48, it has been determined, that the person intended by the act of Congress, as proprietor of an engraving and entitled to secure the copy-right, must be one who both invents the print and engraves it from his own design, or causes it to be engraved from a design made by himself; and that a copy-right cannot be claimed for the engraving by a third person of a mere invention, described to the engraver, but not existing in a visible form.

An author of letters, or papers, of whatever kind, whether on business, or private letters, or literary compositions, has a property in them, and the exclusive right to a copy-right, unless he unequivocally dedicate them to the public, or to some private person; and no person has a right to publish them without his consent, unless such publication be required to establish a personal right, or claim, or to vindicate character. Perhaps the government may have a right to publish official letters, addressed to it, or to any of its departments, by public officers; but no private person has such a right, without the sanction of the government. Folsom v. Marsh, 2 Story's C. C. Rep. 100. But in Gee v. Pritchard, 2 Swanst. 402, the publication of letters, written by the plaintiff to the defendant, was restrained by injunction, though represented by the defendant to be necessary for the vindication of his character. So in Thompson v. Stanhope, Amb. 737, the publication of the letters of Lord Chesterfield to his son, by the executor of the son, after the decease of Lord Chesterfield, and without the permission of his executor, was restrained by injunction. And see Pope v. Curl, 2 Atk. 342.

The author, or publisher, of a work of a libelous or immoral tendency can have no legal property in it; Stockdale v. Onwhym, 2 C. & P. 163; 5 B. & C. 170. And if the work be of such a nature, that an action cannot be sustained to recover damages for pirating it, the court will not, on the application of the author, restrain the publication by injunction. Walcot v. Walker, 7 Ves. 1. Southey v. Sherwood, 2 Mer. 437. And it has been recently holden in England, in the case of Wright v. Tallis, 1 Com. B. 893, [9 Law Rep. 418,] that wherever misrepresentation is made, with the serious design of deceiving the public and enhancing the saleable value of the work, no valid copy-right subsists. In that case a book, in reality an original production, was published with such a title page and preface, as to import that it was a translation from the works of a distinguished foreign writer; and it was held, that the fraud vitiated the copy-right;—and a distinction was taken by the court between this case, and one where the book is issued in the name of an author clearly fictitious, or is issued without having any name attached to it as author.

Conditions of copy-right.] If the author of a book has not a copy-right secured according to law, a court of equity will not grant him an injunction, to prevent the publication or sale of the work by another. Ewer et al. v. Coxe et al., 4 Wash. C. C. Rep. 487. Under the construction given to the English statute an author may maintain the common law action on the case, to recover the damages sustained by him in consequence of a violation of his copy-right, notwithstanding he may not have deposited a copy of his book in Stationer's Hall, as provided by the statute,—the depositing such copy being considered as laying the foundation only for the recovery of the penalty given by the statute. Beckford v. Hood, 7 T. R. 374. And it has been decided in Connecticut, that the requisitions of the acts of Congress then in force, as to publication of the record of the copy-right and depositing a copy of the book in the office of the Secretary of State, were merely directory, and constituted no part of the essential requisites for securing the copy-right. Nichols v. Ruggles et al., 3 Day 145. But it is now settled, that all the conditions, annexed by the act of Congress to the grant of the right, are important, and that a strict performance of them, in the order and within the time named, is essential to a perfect title. Ewer v. Coxe et al., 4 Wash. C. C. Rep. 487. Wheaton et al. v. Peters et al., 8 Pet. 591.

Under the statute of 54 Geo. 3, chap. 156, it has been held, that an author does not forfeit his copy-right by having sold manuscript copies of the work before it is printed and published. White v. Gerock, 1 Chit. R. 24. But it may be doubtful, whether, under the fourth section of the act of Congress of February 3, 1831, such sale would not be deemed a publication, and require the previous deposit of a copy of the title in the clerk's office.

The acts of Congress, authorizing the appointment of a reporter of the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, require the delivery of eighty copies of each volume of reports to the department of State. The delivery of these copies does not exonerate the reporter from the deposit of a copy in the department of State, required under the copy-right act, if he would secure to himself a title under that act. Wheaton et al. v. Peters et al., 8 Pet. 591.

Assignment, and right of renewal.] An assignment of a copy-right, or of an interest in a copy-right, is void, if not in writing; but the agreement to assign may be by parol, and is a good consideration for a promise on the other side. Gould v. Banks et al., 8 Wend. 562. It has been held, that an acquiescence in the publication by the defendant for six years does not prove that the plaintiff has transferred his interest in the copy-right; and that a receipt, given by the plaintiff for money received by him as the price of the copy-right, is no sufficient evidence of an assignment, required by statute to be in writing and attested by two witnesses, and will not preclude the plaintiff from maintaining an action for pirating the work. Latour v. Bland et al., 2 Stark. R. 382.

By an agreement between an author (Sir E. Sugden) and a bookseller, it was agreed, that Messrs. H. (printers) should print 2500 copies of the work, corresponding in type and page with another of the author's works, at the sole cost of the bookseller, and that the latter should pay to the author, for the edition, a certain sum by instalments, the work to be divided into three volumes, and sold at a fixed price. And it was held, that the bookseller was not merely a purchaser of 2500 copies of the work, but was, in equity, an assignee of the copy-right of it, to the extent, that he was to be the sole publisher of it, until the whole edition should be sold; and that he might maintain a bill in his own name to restrain a piracy of the work. Sweet v. Cater, 11 Sim. 572.

Under the English law, if the author have made a general assignment of his copy-right, and is living at the expiration of the twenty eight years, the right of renewal for fourteen years belongs to the assignee. Carnan v. Boules, 2 Bro. C. C. 80.—But if the author be not living at the expiration of the twenty eight years, his personal representatives, and not the assignee, are entitled to claim the right of renewal. 6 Petersd. Ab. 565. And it is said by Chancellor Kent, (2 Kent's Com. 383,) that the act of Congress of Feb. 3, 1831, giving the right of renewal, in case of the author's death, to his widow and children, should receive the same construction, and that a benefit to the widow and children is intended.

FORM OF TRANSFER.

Know all men by these presents, That I, A. B. of —, for and in consideration of the sum of —, to me in hand paid by C. D. of —, the receipt whereof I do hereby acknowledge, have granted, assigned and set over, and by these presents do grant, assign and set over unto the said C. D. all my right, property, interest, claim and demand whatsoever in and to the copy-right of a certain book, of which I, the said A. B., am author [or, of which said copy-right I, the said A. B., am proprietor,] the title of which said book is in the words following, that is to say, [insert the title.] To have and to hold the said copy-right, with all the benefit, profit and advantage thereof, to the said C. D., his executors, administrators and assigns, in as ample and beneficial a manner, to all intents and purposes, as I, the said A. B., might have had or held the same, if this present assignment had not been made.

A. B. [Seal.]

In witness, &c.

signed and sealed, to be his free act and deed. Before me,
L. M., Justice of the Peace.

The form and manner of the acknowledgment will vary in the different States; since the act of Congress of June 30, 1834, requires the assignment to be proved and acknowledged in the same manner as is required in case of a conveyance of land, in the State, or District, where the assignment is executed.

Violation of copy-right.] A fair abridgment is no infringement of copy-right. Anon., Lofft 775. Bell v. Walker, 1 Bro. C. C. 451. Neither is the publishing an abstract of a work in a magazine, or review,—especially if it appear, that the plaintiff himself has published extracts in a periodical paper. Doddsley v. Kinnerley, Ambler 403. Nor is it proof of a piracy, one author is found in that of another; the question is, whether such transcribing is fairly done, with a view of compiling a useful book for the benefit of the public, or colorably, merely, with a view to steal the copy-right of the plaintiff. Cary v. Kearsley, 4 Esp. R. 168. But if so much is copied, as to form a substitute for the original work, or if that, which purports to be an abridgment, consist of extracts of the essential or most valuable portions of the original work, it is a piracy; and it is not necessary that the whole, or the larger part of it, should be taken; it is only necessary that so much should be taken, as sensibly to diminish the value of the original work, or substantially to appropriate the labors of the author. Folsom v. Marsh, 2 Story's C. C. Rep. 100. Emerson v. Davies et al., 8 Law Rep. 270. Roworth v. Wilkes, 1 Camp. 94. And it is of no consequence, whether the invasion of the copy-right be by a simple reprint, or by incorporating the whole, or a large portion thereof, in some larger work. Gray v. Russell, Circ. Ct., Mass., Oct. 1839. 2 Kent 379 (n.) Where A. published a "Life of Washington," containing 866 pages, of which 353 pages were
